White Paper v1.1 (2026). nAAAGlobal(AAAG) Utility & Fidelity Token

1. Executive Summary

nAAAGlobal (AAAG) is a blockchain-based utility and value-preservation token created in 2017 within the Waves ecosystem.

The project was developed over multiple years with a strong focus on regulatory awareness, economic sustainability, and long-term value stability, rather than short-term speculation.

Since its inception, AAAG has been publicly tradable on decentralized exchanges (waves.exchange, later wx.network) and has evolved from an early adoption phase into a stability-oriented digital asset, designed to support real-world use cases within the Naanii Global ecosystem and beyond.

As of 2026, AAAG continues to be actively traded, primarily paired with stablecoins (USDC / USDT), reflecting its positioning as a long-term utility and settlement token.

2. Background & Motivation

The AAAG token was created in response to several structural issues observed in early cryptocurrency markets:

- Excessive speculation without real utility
- Lack of long-term economic planning
- Regulatory uncertainty
- Unsustainable token inflation models

From the beginning, AAAG was designed with a conservative, research-driven approach, prioritizing:

- Economic resilience
- Transparent supply logic
- Cross-border usability
- Compatibility with evolving regulatory frameworks

Between 2017 and 2023, the project intentionally maintained a low public profile, focusing on internal testing, legal review, risk analysis, and system refinement.

The nAAAGlobal project originated in Germany in 2017, initiated by company KJA-NG, Berlin for Naanii Global, as part of a broader research project and examination of blockchain utility in media, consulting, art, luxury industry and international service structures.

From inception, the project deliberately avoided public fundraising, token sales, or speculative incentive mechanisms.

Between 2017 and 2025, the token remained active on Waves-based decentralized infrastructure, evolving alongside regulatory, technical, and geopolitical changes affecting digital assets globally.

In 2025, the Naanii Global NL Berlin (GmbH) (a part of the project structure) was integrated into Naanii Global Holding Ltd (UK), reflecting international operational alignment.

In 2021, an unrelated and unauthorized token using the AAAG name appeared on a different blockchain network. This token was not issued, endorsed, or affiliated with the nAAAGlobal (AAAG) project.

The issuer formally challenged this misuse and requested platform action. The official AAAG token remains exclusively the Waves-based asset described in this document.

2.1. Vision & Objectives

The long-term vision of AAAG is to demonstrate how a utility token :nAAAGlobal (AAAG) can :

Support real economic activity rather than speculation
Operate transparently within legal and tax frameworks
Provide measurable utility across borders
Remain adaptable to regulatory and market evolution
AAAG prioritizes operational continuity, compliance awareness, and user clarity over rapid expansion or experimental financial engineering.
